The Danish company is producing a product to be used in the private vegetable garden. The product is made of mainly polyethylene plastic foil. The advantage of using the product is:

1. No weeds are germinating within 10 centimetres from the vegetable seeds, so no hand weeding is necessary.
2. The vegetable seeds are already put in the product with the recommended amount per meter, so no thinning is needed.
3. The seeds are put in with evenly and recommended spacing. In short terms, everything has already been taken care of, and after laying out the product in the soil, no work is needed during the summer. There is no other product on the market, that prevents the need for hand weeding. The company has the patent for the product, and is looking for partners to sell the product. Leasing or buying the patent is also an option.
